PEOPLE SPEAK

Life itself is a great teacher. We not only live our life but also get to learn more and more from our and other's experiences. As you take things positively or negatively they would have that kind of effect on you. Try to learn from everything and everyone in your own way. You should try to learn and adopt every good thing of others.

Nelson Mandela spent 27 yrs in jail due to his struggle against racial discrimination. during that period he had to face many tortures but none of them succeeded In decreasing his willpower and no one can broke him, it made him more strong. He learned to handle everything with patience and to control his anger. He acted saintly and at last the government had to free him but even after 27 yrs he was filled with same enthusiasm and willpower, then he headed the government and changed the picture of Africa.

Be stiff and have confidence on yourself and always act in forward direction, have faith on yourself, have faith on god. 'when you will walk path itself will be created for others to follow' listen to everyone but do what your heart wants and follow the path it leads to you.
